Twelve lively accounts are given, based on searching interviews, of very different kinds of managerial jobs. They paint a picture of what the job is like, the work that the individual does, and how he or she feels about it. The jobs are compared and lessons are drawn for career guidance, selection and management development as well as how far managerial skills are transferable. The accounts can also be used as case studies and questions are provided for students.

This article reviews empirical research related to effectiveness in management teams. Effectiveness is defined as the degree to which a management team meets or. Anbefalte skrivemåter for medisinske ord og uttrykk i Tidsskrift for Den norske legeförening.
